➤ BIO

Carl is a Colonel in the United States Army currently stationed at West Point, NY. A 1999 graduate of the United States Military Academy, Carl serves as the Chair of the Economics Program at West Point and has served as the volunteer head coach for the West Point Skeet and Trap Team for the past 13 years. He is a certified shotgun instructor with the NRA and SCTP, a Level II skeet instructor and Zone 9 Director with the National Skeet Shooting Association, and current captain of the Army's American Skeet Team - representing the Army at annual interservice skeet competitions. As the head coach of West Point's Skeet and Trap team he has overseen the establishment of two team endowments (one with the MidwayUSA Foundation), navigated corporate sponsorship agreements with companies like Beretta USA and Randolph Engineering, completed several significant facility upgrades, and has positioned West Point's team as the premier collegiate team in the Northeast - winning several regional and national team titles. Carl possesses an MBA from the Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania, and a PhD in Economics from Notre Dame. His wife Krista (also a Pennsylvania native) and four children all shoot.
